- The short answer will be three paragraphs long. [Introduction, Body, and Conclusion]
- We will be looking at various documents to answer the question.

How could the fall of Rome be a warning for modern civilizations?

Reasons for Decline

Instructions: Look at the list below of major issues/problems currently faced by the United States. Rank the reasons below based on your personal level of concern. Be sure to explain why you chose your top 3.

1= Most concerned

7=Least concerned

- America is the 2nd most obese country in the world and that creates massive health care issues
- Political parties fight too much and fail to solve serious issues
- Terrorism is a real and constant threat to our safety
- Growing economic inequality among the rich and poor
- Global warming, rising populations and pollution are creating an environmental crisis
- We depend on other nations too much for our products and goods and cannot support ourselves
- Pop culture is negative and sends the wrong messages and is a sign of moral decline

Background Essay: Caption Method

Rome – the city that would become the center of one of the world’s greatest empires – began around 750 BCE as an unremarkable settlement. During Rome’s early years, the most wealthy and powerful people of the Mediterranean world were the Greeks. However, by 200 BCE, the Greek empire was weakening and Rome was turning into a giant, spilling over its borders as it acquired foreign lands. No longer a sleepy little town, Rome had become a powerhouse.

We are going to chunk and summarize this essay using the caption method.

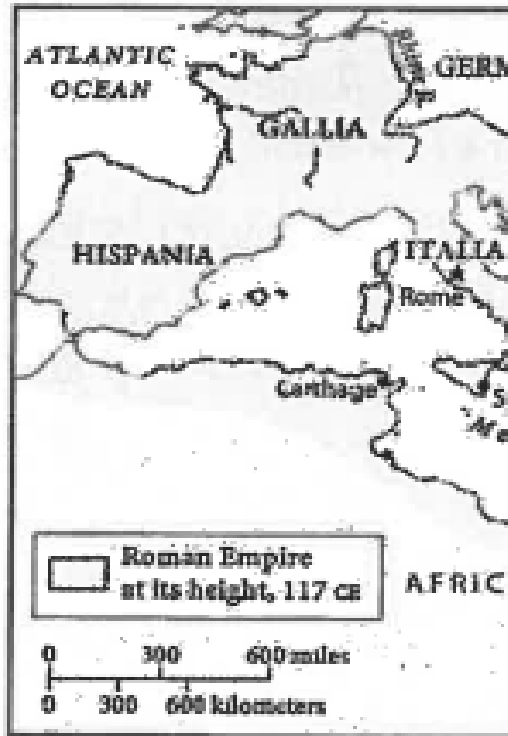

Caption Method:

You will summarize each paragraph with a hashtag (#) or a movie caption or song title.

#RomeStrengthens

Background Essay: Caption Method

As with so many empires, Rome's rise to power came with the thrust of a spear and the slash of a sword. The enormous Roman army conquered territory from modern-day Scotland to Spain, gained control of the whole Mediterranean Sea, and established colonies in North Africa, Egypt, the Middle East and Asia Minor. By the year 44 BCE, when Julius Caesar became Rome's virtual emperor, there were no major rivals left to defeat.
