- Why could not the colonies trade between themselves?
- Who are the mother countries?

Mercantilism Analysis

Mercantilism

As you have read, mercantilism was an economic theory practiced in Europe from the 16th to the 18th centuries. Economists of the period believed that a country's power came from its wealth. Thus, a country would do everything possible to acquire more gold, preferably at the expense of its rivals. A mercantilist country primarily sought gold in two ways: establishing and exploiting colonies, and establishing a favorable balance of trade with a rival country. In the example to the right, England is the home country, America is England's colony, and France is England's rival.

How is England skewing or altering the system in its favor?

Why would the colonies be important to Europe?

How might France try to acquire gold and become more powerful than England?

Pulse Check

What effect do you think Mercantilism had on European nations and the colonies?

Exit Ticket
