Research to Presentation

Today you should finish your research and your particular slides of information.

You should be ready to collaborate with your peers to create one final project.

Decide if you will create a Presentation or a Prezi.

Decide on pictures.

Make sure you have cited your pictures and explained why you chose that particular picture.

With your partners you should create your own pulse check questions or guided notes. The questions will be provided to your peers so that they can follow along with your presentation.

I would recommend having one Pulse Check Question per slide and then trimming them to what is the most important information.

I have examples of both of these.

EXAMPLE SLIDE

The Neolithic Revolution

- The Neolithic Revolution or the Agricultural Revolution changed human history forever.

This event occurred during the Neolithic Age around 10,000 BCE.

The major change that happened during this time was that humans became more sedentary instead of nomadic.

People learned to farm and domesticate

<input type="radio"/>	A few sentences that explain your revolution.
	Example:
	Farming; domestication; Agriculture Revolution
<input type="radio"/>	The Neolithic Revolution is a revolution because it changed human's lifestyle. It is also called the Agricultural Revolution because without it people would not have agriculture. This is the shift because people learned how to farm and domesticate animals. What makes this revolutionary is that people did not have to follow their food. They can be sedentary and be self-sufficient.
